12

Virtual platform

AAC TeleTips is virtual platform to provide a comprehensive library including evaluation tips, AAC teletherapy suggestions, guidance for funding, therapy trials, educational supports and trainings

AAC TeleTips

AAC language lab

AAC language lab is a yearly subscription for materials and tips for Speech Language Pathologists, educators, and parents to create fun and interactive activities to engage their children in language rich learning.

There are premade lesson plans which might include things like a short book, a writing activity, a science or hands on project and games. These activities are premade for Unity, LAMP, and TouchChat.

Center for AAC and Autism

The Center for Autism furthers research in the area of supporting individuals who need access to alternative communication methods. The Center for Autism helps spread awareness and provides training opportunities for parents, caregivers, and teachers.

Tools to assess use and track vocabulary use

Realize language is a subscription service that takes the data a device provides on usage and makes it usable information by creating easy to read charts and graphics to interpret that data.

Support with determining an access method

Methods for access can be frustrating for individuals with motor impairments. The methods used to help determine access for individuals using motorized chairs was applied to communication devices.

Message banking

PRC-Saltillo has free message banking through a web-based service. First record messages then download them to an Accent or iOS device.
